

The Robot

illustrations by Joseph Fajnor

Chhota Bheem, did you remember to wash hands after using the bathroom?

Ummm... of course, I always do!

Yes! I brought my new robot.

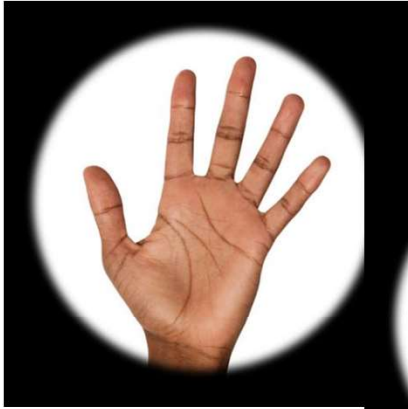

Professor Shastri Dhoomketoo, you are just in time! Did you bring it?

What does the robot do?

My microscope vision is inspecting...

Regular size.

3 times size

10 times size

30 times size

200 times size...
GERM ALERT!!

OUCH! Why did you shoot my hands?

I destroy all germs on hands.

You have to wash
hands with soap
EVERY time, like I do!

Well, ALMOST every time.

Feedback – Curriculum Testing (Kiah Martinez 10/9/18)

- Tested with 2nd grader boy @ Berkeley Youth Alternatives
- Believed that the lesson was to wash your hands
- Did not seem to be confused – engaged the whole time
- Believed to be too short
- He liked that the robot cleans germs, did not like that it hurts when it does
- Comments for the curriculum: no instructions, I read it aloud and used the best "robot" voice that I could, but other than that no discussion questions nor instructions were listed.
